Modern Athens

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from Athens, describes it as a pleasant town of 60,000 inhabitants, supporting twenty-three papers, of which eight are dailies, which circulate not only in Greece, but among the Greeks in Turkey. After alluding to the general resemblance of the place to Edinburg, he adds

The chief attraction to travelers is, of course the display of ancient art in the ruins which tell of what Greece once was It has been a great pleasure, not unmixed with sadness, to wander amidst those wondrous architectural remains which point out the site of classic Athens The modern city lies on an inclined plane, with the high, sharp peaked hill, Lycabettus, to the north, Mars Hill, the hill Acropolis, and some undulating ground at the base of Mount Hymettus, to the east, the range of Pentelicus, famous for its marble, and now tipped with snow, at the remote west, and the low ground, covered with olive trees and vineyards, running down to the Piræus, on the south

The Parthenon shows from afar on the top of the Acropolis, riveting the gaze of the beholder by its beauty A close inspection adds to one's admiration, by revealing, in addition to the perfection of its proportion and materials, the exquisite statuary and carving, whose fractured relics make one almost weep over the vandalism that destroyed the most precious works of ancient art Great care is now taken to preserve all that survives, as also to gather up and display the beautiful fragments of sculpture that are found in excavations A guard followed at our heels every where, to see that we mutilated no delicate work neither carried off a column of the Parthenon under our arm, and we did neither, though we saw where a Frenchman had wantonly broken off the fine profile of a face, to secure a memento, and where Lord Elgin, years ago, had plundered the Parthenon of the most elaborate of its sculptured marble, sending back plaster casts of a part in stead

At the southern base of the Acropolis are two ancient theaters, with their seats rising steeply tier above tier in the open air, showing how audiences of twenty or thirty thousand were accommodated One, the Theater of Bacchus, was chiefly excavated only three or four years since, and displays many beautiful specimens of art, though but few of them are unmutilated The lowest row of seats consisted of white marble arm chairs cut out in pairs, and with the name of the aristocratic proprietor cut upon each They seem to have been the private boxes of the theater

It was with a thrill of emotion that after reading anew the XVII chapter of the Acts of the Apostles I ascended the stone steps cut in the rock of Mars Hill, and stood where Paul stood when he uttered his unanswerable argument, and made his bold and sublime protest against idolatry in full view of the Parthenon, the Erechtheon, the Temple of Victory the Temple of Theseus the Temple of Jupiter Olympus and the other magnificent erections of Grecian superstition No one can understand the grandeur and power of that discourse till he stands where it was delivered The Temple of Jupiter presents only fifteen erect columns of what once was a colonnade, on its four sides, of one hundred and twenty four rich Corinthian pillars

The Temple of Theseus is the most ancient and complete of the structures which remain much resembling the Parthenon in general effect, though standing on comparatively low ground The interior is used as a museum of ancient Grecian art and contains many most admirable specimens, principally taken from the tombs And this reminds me that the outer Ceramicus or burial ground, which has been covered with twelve or fifteen feet of rubbish has lately been partially explored and has yielded several valuable sculptures which will lead to further search An antiquarian society exists here under the patronage of the government which conducts these excavations as the limited funds allow

How he got Drunk —A Chicago paper contains the following confession made by a prisoner arraigned before the Police Court of that city for drunkenness

"I am A P Griffin I want to call myself Smith but I cannot tell a lie I'd be sure to betray myself, Last night I visited a friend and took supper with him Brandied peaches were on the table and I ate many of them They were nice and I had an appetite Strange to say they improved my conversational powers I was witty, Whenever I spoke every one laughed I got off a conundrum It was wicked but oh how funny It was 'which of the Apostles is good to drink? Paul, because a pull is a bier It's a rule of three conundrums Then I left for home I haven't reached there yet On my way there a missionary spirit awoke in me I would see what a haunt of iniquity a rum shop looked like I called for brandied peaches without the peaches. It was given me and I drank it The barkeeper demanded 20 cents Said I Friend I am a missionary Consequently I shall pay thee in tracts Here are two dozen of them Read and profit thereby' He wouldn't take them! He cursed me Then I got angry and forgot that I was a christian I said 'Confound you But I had to pay him It would seem that sometimes the wages of sin are 20 cents What I did after that I don't know I know my head ached I know my hair is filled with ashes I know I am a wicked sinner Now Mr Justice, don't fine me If I didn't act right when I was drunk, it wasn't my fault There is no hand book of drunkenness to teach me It was the peaches that made me drunk I am going to write out my last night's experience It will be in the form of a tract I will send you some that that will make some nice Christmas gifts" To discourage people from becoming drunk on peach es A. P. was fined $10.

Distress in Europe

TERRIBLE SUFFERING IN LONDON

[From the London Herald]

Whatever faults are properly chargeable to the working classes, the scene now presented to our view is one which calls for pity and for succor The ordinary laborer, with his comparatively scanty earnings, is soon impoverished. Next follows the skilled workmen, and we are sorry to find this second state of the calamity is close at hand The general distress is really alarming, Shipbuilding and all its associated trades has come to a standstill Railway works are in much the same plight, and the labor market generally is in a state of abnormal depression The people are suffering patiently In continental cities the hungry multitudes would clamor for aid, here they wait for it As for the notion that these starving multitudes are holding aloof from work on a question of wages, there are no signs that such is the case just now Men who once earned good wages are seen flocking in crowds to the stone yard, anxious for the hard earned pittance of threepence and a loaf of bread May this terrible experience be remembered when the good times return, and may all this gaunt and horrid poverty be the beginning of the end in the history of Trade Unions!

THE MECHANICS AND LABORERS FAMISHING.

[From the London Times, January 22d]

At a meeting held at the Mansion House a number of communications on the subject, which had been forwarded to the Lord Mayor, were handed in by him, with a request that, as they appeared to contain much information in reference to the state of the population in the distressed districts, and to be furnished by persons on the spot, our reporter would give the material parts of them! At a meeting of the Poplar Board of Guardians, held on the 8th of January, it was stated that the number of outdoor paupers had increased to such an extent that the relieving officers had found it utterly impossible for them to visit all who had applied for relief Jeffries, the relieving officer for the South District, had nearly 1 000 families on his books, each family representing at least five persons He had been at work night and day, and felt quite unequal to the strain On the previous day he had given away two tons and five hundred weight of bread The total number of persons relieved out of the house that week was 8,319, being an increase on that of the corresponding week of last year of 5,453, and the contractor had supplied the Union with 16 tons 13 cwt of bread in a week, or 9 324 loaves That was in Poplar alone. A gentleman residing on the West India road, writing on Sunday last, states that he had visited many of the working people at their homes in that neighborhood, and that the distress among the mechanics and laborers is appalling Many of them, he says, are quite disheartened, sitting within bare walls, with neither bed nor clothing and with their children almost naked and famishing Strong young men had burst into tears on seeing him enter, and pointed to their starving wives and children in silent dispair Some among them had been very improvident, but others quite the reverse. He had that day relieved a young man with four children, who was an iron worker and had been out of employment for many months. He was a teetotaler, and had husbanded his saved earnings to the last, and now, with his family, had nothing to lie upon but the bare floor, and nothing to cover them but a single sheet. The Rector of Bethnal Green (Hansard) writes that there is a great deal of distress there; that the commercial panic, the cholera and the frost had severely affected the working classes, that the rates are now in the proportion of eight shillings in the pound per year, that the work house is full, every spare place being occupied by a bed, and that on Tuesday last eight hours were spent in inquiring into the out door cases. The pittance of two shillings or three shillings a week, he says, might well be supplemented by private benevolence. The Secretary of the Dock and Wharf Laborers' Association, High street, Shadwell, writing on Saturday last thinks he may safely say 20,000 of those classes are now quite out of employment and had not earned a shilling for the last two months, that probably 15,000 of them are dragging out a miserable existence by pledging little things and selling articles of furniture, and that the rest are receiving scanty relief from the parishes of Whitechapel, Bethnal Green, Spitalfields, Shadwell, Poplar and Wapping Another correspondent writes Sickening and heartrending have been the scenes of distress I have witnessed during my four months voluntary employment of doing what I could, in my humble degree, to assist in alleviating the misery of some of my fellow-creatures Upward of five hundred families, during that time, have been brought under my notice, and I can unhesitatingly affirm such a season of distress and misery was never before experienced in this locality He adds that during all the summer months, owing to the scarcity of work and the visitation of cholera, many families had to part with articles of clothing, bedding and everything upon which money could be obtained, so that when winter set in they had nothing left to dispose of, and the pawnbrokers, whose shops are already crammed with goods, care to give but the merest trifle for things which may never be redeemed Now the distress was fearfully and palpably developed by the continuance of cold weather To particularize cases of distress, he says, is almost beyond his power It is widespread and almost universal He has seen three and four families of children in one house where the fathers have perhaps had not more than a few weeks work since the middle of last May, and twenty, thirty and even as many as sixty duplicates had sometimes been shown him, the silent but mournful representatives of what was once a comfortable home

DISTRESS IN YORKSHIRE.

[From the London Times January 1st]

The signs of a thaw in the North Riding of Yorkshire indicated on Saturday night were but brief, and northeast gales, with snow and hail, have continued since, being particularly severe near the coast on Sunday The demand for coals is greater than has been known for a long time, and on Sunday 'colliers' were run throughout the day answering the double purpose of pilot engines and coal supply trains On Monday morning the first trains all got through, and the North and East Riding lines are fully open for traffic with the exception of the Hull and Scarborough, of which one line is yet blocked in places, There is every indication of a continuance of the storm, and the distress thereby occasioned in the agricultural districts is great, there being no occupation for the laborers The borough bailiff of Malton convened a meeting of the inhabitants yesterday morning, at which a public subscription was resolved upon to supply the pressing wants of the poor, and provide temporary employment for the laboring population The weather is milder, but the streets of Malton are banked with snow from three to four feet deep. A great flood is anticipated when the thaw comes

INCREASED NUMBER OF DEATHS

[From the London Times January 2]

The last weekly return of the Registrar General discloses the effect of the severe weather which set in at the commencement of the new year, exhibiting an increase of 435 deaths over the two preceding weeks The results of the cold in the first week of the year are apparent in the mortuary returns of the succeeding week, and a comparison of the deaths at different periods of life in the two weeks shows at once the class to whom cold is most fatal Of young people under twenty years of age 733 died in the second week of the year, and at sixty years of age and upward the deaths increased from 312 to 565 The obituary of the Times of Saturday exhibited the effects of a cold blast on the aged, where the deaths of seven gentlemen and two ladies are recorded, whose united ages amounted to 769 years giving an average of eighty five years and nearly six months to each, the oldest was a gentleman aged ninety one, and the youngest a lady of eighty two years of age "In such weather give fire, food and clothing, is to give life The Medical Times comments on the number of strong idle rogues who get the lion's share of relief while the real deserving poor just starve to death and adds that the application of the money in a way that tends to draw hordes of tramps and vagabonds to London needs to be checked and a system of greater supervision in the administration of relief, so as to find out the most necessitous cases of poverty and distress should be commenced as soon as possible

Obedience to the Supreme Court

There is a question which has been submitted in one shape or another to the Supreme Court of the United States for adjudication, at least twenty times since the beginning of the present century, and in every case the decision has been precisely the same. This question is can the securities of the United States be taxed by a State or a corporation? Cases have been carried up to the Court under every plea that legal ingenuity could devise, in the hope of getting an affirmative decision, but without success. Judges of all parties have concurred in the opinion that the securities of the United States cannot be subjected to State taxation. If any principle may be said to be settled, this is one. If the decisions of the Supreme Court on any subject whatever are entitled to be held in respect, that respect should be shown them in these cases. By a series of decisions running through a period of sixty years, the doctrine is established that the paper of the Government is not liable to taxation. There is hardly another point in the whole range of constitutional law on which the decisions of the Court have been so uniformly alike. And yet in the face of these adjudications there are those who hold the contrary doctrine. And what is still more strange, these persons just now profess the greatest respect for the Supreme Court and insist that the decisions of that tribunal on all subjects which are brought before it, are final, and must be implicitly obeyed. Just now, it is their idol, and it shocks them to hear others speak of it as an earthly and fallible institution. They profess to hold it in awful reverence, and never tire of talking about the perfection of its judges and the purity of the ermine. This is because the Court lately made some political decisions in the interest of the rebellious ex-slaveholders. But for its decisions on this other subject they have no respect. It matters not that the Court has decided a score of times that Government bonds are not taxable, they insist that the bonds must be taxed, and make this doctrine one of the articles of their political faith. With them, the doctrine of stare decisis means, abide by the decisions when they suit you, but repudiate them when they are contrary to your purposes. The sincerity of the respect they profess for the Supreme Court may be judged of from this action. Right here we might pertinently copy from a Copperhead paper an article mourning over the degeneracy of the times when the decisions of this august tribunal are openly disregarded, when the reverence with which its opinions should be received is changed to derision; when an unthinking populace, a mad rabble, scout the idea of its infallibility, and set their own unenlightened opinions above its learned judgments. This, and much more could be produced from the organs of that party which at one time lauds the Supreme Court to the skies, and at another refuses to respect its decisions. But it is sufficient to remark in a practical way that the party which disregards the repeated judgments of the Supreme Court, by insisting that the securities of the Government must be taxed, is not entitled to respect when it upbraids others for their alleged disobedience to the commands of that tribunal.

A Discovery and an Omission.

That is a wonderful discovery which has been made by certain affectedly wise persons, viz: that the Government, under the Administration of Lincoln cost more money than under the Administration of Buchanan. The people at large will doubtless consider themselves under an immense load of obligation to those who take such a world of pains to announce so startling a fact. From the assiduity with which this subject is followed up, it is evident that the discoverers suppose that so astonishing a thought never occurred to ordinary minds. And as if to convince the sceptical beyond all cavil and leave no peg anywhere to hang a doubt upon, the figures are not unfrequently paraded to prove the truth of this extraordinary discovery. The argument of figures is irresistible, and it is believed that the most narrow minded Radical will be forced to confess that more money has been required to answer the uses of the Government during the last six years than for any like preceding period. Such is the triumph of that admirable wisdom which wrought out this discovery.

But though these gentlemen have labored hard to establish so difficult a proposition, they have not yet explained the whole case with that precision which ought reasonably to be expected from persons so wise. They do not tell us what was the cause of this vast expenditure of money which they so bitterly deplore. Pity it is that they should have stopped where they did, before telling us that the whole of this great sum was spent in an effort (which was finally successful) to make them and their political friends obey the laws. Had they remarked, while on the subject, that the four thousand millions which was expended during Lincoln's Administration was just what it cost to enforce obedience to the laws on the part of the Democracy, the statement of the case would have been complete. But they suppressed this fact and in consequence their discovery loses much of its force. When they talk about our great debt they do not tell us that it is a legacy left by their party to the nation. A statement of this fact ought always to accompany any remarks they make on national expenditure during the last six years.

WORTHY OF NASBY.—It is a gratifying fact that a co-laborer with Rev Petroleum V. Nasby in the Democratic vineyard has at last been discovered. That eminent Democrat will no longer fight the battle alone. An assistant has been found who is able to relieve him of part of his labors by now and then making an argument in proof of the divinity of slavery, and in defense of that blessed system which enabled high minded gentlemen to steal the proceeds of the labor of those who had not power to defend their natural rights. Take the following from the Oregon Herald:

> "When the Republican party came into power * * * there was no conflict between the superior and inferior races, for each were then occupying their normal condition, and were mutually profiting by the relations into which they had been brought—the white man found a servile race of hereditary bondmen adapted to menial vocations degrading to the superior race, and the servants were elevated by association with enlightened and humane masters to a condition above that ever before attained by any of their race. The "irrepressible conflict" only commenced when the barriers which nature had established were ignored by human laws and all men were declared equal, with the sure index of inequality stamped upon them by the great Creator himself, with the irrevocable decree written upon the records of the human family by an Almighty hand, this people shall dominate and that people shall be subservient to them."

Doolittle won't resign in compliance with the instructions of his outraged constituents, because he thinks it would set a bad precedent by making the Senate subject to the popular will! Of course a man who is capable of betraying his constituents will pay no respect to their declared wishes in anything.

Several hundred dollars in money and a lot of valuable jewelry was taken from the store of Dr S. Wilson, of Seattle, W T, one night last week. It has not been ascertained who perpetrated the robbery.

A newspaper case was recently settled after this fashion: Mr Berry, editor of the Richmond (Mo) Freeman, had a rope placed round his neck, and a pistol at his head, and in this situation was forced to sign an abject and humiliating retraction of a certain article in his paper.

Trade of the Pacific States with the Sandwich Islands

The following interesting communication in relation to this important subject was written by a gentleman at Honolulu who is well acquainted with the commercial affairs of the Sandwich Islands and is entitled to attentive consideration. The letter was forwarded by the Falkenburg and we receive it through the favor of Col McCraken.

HONOLULU, Feb 13, 1867

Major General McCook on his arrival here to represent the United States of America at this court was surprised that considering the geographical position of the group, its vast importance as a commercial entrepot in the Pacific, and its contiguity to the Pacific coast of America, that the importance of making American interests predominate over those of any other power has not occupied the attention of the United States more than it has. Mr McBride while Minister Resident here had urged upon the home Government the importance of securing the commercial supremacy that prevailed before the war by a treaty of reciprocity in commerce. Gen McCook was so strongly impressed with the views of his predecessor that he went immediately to San Francisco by the Vanderbilt and telegraphed for permission to go on to Washington and lay his views before the Government. And the subject is now occupying the attention of both the Hawaiian and United States Governments.

The Hawaiian Government by desiring to increase its prosperity, by fostering the agricultural and commercial enterprises of its citizens by a low tariff and treaties of reciprocity, rather than by high impost duties shows a progressive and enlightened spirit far in advance of that of most of the smaller nations of the Pacific and certainly deserves to be met by our Government in the same enlightened spirit.

A treaty in some respects similar to the one which the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce lately recommended the Hawaiian Government to negotiate was once negotiated with Secretary Marcy, and by him as well as the whole Cabinet of President Pierce fully approved. The treaty also received a large majority of the votes of the Senators of the States now represented, but was killed by the influence of Slidell of Louisiana.

Before the war was over two thirds of the imports of the Hawaiian kingdom were from the United States, while they now amount to about one half, or $1,000,000, while the exports to the United States amount to about $800,000. The Hawaiian Government, we hear, proposes to release free of all duty a list of articles which are imported almost exclusively from the United States, which now amount in value to about $500,000, and which under the operations of a reciprocity treaty would doubtless amount to over $1,250,000, and in return want to send to the United States, free of duty, some of their principal products, which now amount to about $800,000.

The effect of such a treaty, it can be easily shown, will be to throw the whole commerce of the islands into the hands of the United States. And it would directly benefit the Pacific coast, especially as the Hawaiian Government proposes to make up the deficiency in its own revenue by taxing the imports from other countries. Without such a treaty there is nothing to prevent the Hawaiian Government from putting such a tariff upon the imports from the United States as shall decrease our trade with them very much. It is to be hoped that the Congressional delegation from the Pacific States will give their united support to such a measure, and thus secure to the United States the advantages of a close commercial relation and a preponderating influence in the welfare and destiny of those beautiful isles, which are to the Western coast what the West Indies are to the Eastern.

The principal island productions are sugar, coffee, spirits, which are not produced by the Pacific States, and they are the natural producers for the consumption of the west coast of America. The present high tariff on sugars will doubtless soon be reduced, and the loss of revenue to the United States would be small compared to the advantages gained by the people of the Pacific States, and to the country at large. It is by such measures as these that Great Britain has in the last gained markets for her productions, and a political influence that has been of such enormous benefit to her.

There is but little doing in the way of business now at the islands, as the whalers have not yet begun to come in.

Truly yours, *——

A WOMAN LOST IN THE WOODS.—The Puget Sound Weekly (Seattle) of the 11th inst. relates the following remarkable case of a woman lost in the woods, and her wonderful endurance for a period of seven days without food or fire, in the midst of a snow storm.

A Mrs Moore, a lady of some fifty years of age, who resides near Lone-Tree Point, on the Sound, left home on Thursday, the 7th inst., to go to Mr Eagan's on White river, in this county, a distance of four miles, and being caught in the blinding snow storm of that day, became bewildered, and lost her way. She wandered about in the woods for seven days before she was found, without any thing to eat, and sleeping at night in a hollow log. She had a heavy shawl and a U S Regulation overcoat to protect her from the inclemency of the weather. Two dogs accompanied her, one of which left on the fourth day, the other remaining with her until she was found. At night the faithful animal slept on her feet, which, undoubtedly, did much to keep her from being frozen. Although diligent and persevering search was made, it was several days after her tracks were first discovered before she was found. At length, on the seventh day, she was discovered lying in a hollow tree, with the dog at her feet, and one shoe filled with water by her side that she had carried into her retreat to drink. She was only a half mile from the road, and a mile and a half from a house when she was found. On being asked if she was hungry, she replied that she was not, but after arriving at the house and being given some gruel, it had to be taken from her to prevent her eating too much. When taken away she begged pitifully for more. Astonishing as it may seem, she endured the severe cold and hunger without any apparently serious or permanent injury. We have not been able to obtain a minute account of her movements while lost, but it doubtless would verify the old adage that "truth is stranger than fiction."

A WINTER THUNDER STORM.—The New York Tribune of Monday, February 11th, says:

About dusk on Saturday evening there was a sudden flash of lightning, accompanied with heavy peals of thunder which shook the city as if a powder magazine had exploded in our midst. Being such a remarkable occurrence for this season of the year, for an instant the impression prevailed that an explosion had occurred in the lower part of the city, the slow rumbling of the distant thunder sounding like the crashing of falling walls. During the entire evening the rain descended in torrents deluging the streets, and finding its way to the sewers carried with it "the beautiful snow" which had so long perplexed this people. The elements have been more accommodating than the street cleaners, having done more for man and beast in a single night than they would have performed in a single month. The streets have been almost impassable, and weary pedestrians have been wading through mud and slush until it had almost seemed as if the pavement had disappeared forever.

Yesterday morning, soon after midnight, the wind, which during the evening had been blowing from the east, veered to the west making a sudden and extraordinary change in the temperature of the atmosphere. About two o'clock the wind, which had freshened considerably, increased to a gale, which continued during the whole day, blowing with terrific violence. The thermometer, which during Sunday had stood at 65°, suddenly fell to some degrees below zero rendering the air biting cold. The sharp winds swept through the streets carrying with it vast clouds of dust. Car drivers trotting along side of their teams to keep their blood in circulation. Altogether it was a disagreeable day and very few people came out doors. A few snow flakes fell during the afternoon, but the dark clouds were quickly dispelled by the strong westerly wind.

The Owyhee Bullion has the following in regard to the Hays & Roys ledge:

Messrs Burnham and Jackson, who have had the contract for running a tunnel to the above ledge, have "struck it big." Mr Burnham informs us that at a distance of 450 feet from the mouth of the tunnel a well defined ledge, from two and a half to three feet wide, was struck containing ore as rich as that which gave the "Poorman" its world wide reputation. As this is a part of the great 'Poorman' vein, the question of the wealth and permanency of this ledge is for ever settled.

EVERYTHING HAS AN END.—R. H. Olmstead and Miss Martha T Hale, of East Hartford, Conn., were united in matrimony on the 1st of January, after a courtship of twenty years.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THE OLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY 89 First Street, has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL, Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco, with ALL THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS, is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art.

AN ASTOUNDING ANNOUNCEMENT.

The steamer Continental is widely known as being the vessel that brought from New York the celebrated Mercer family, and consequently has a reputation that will be preserved in history for extensive importations. But when it is known that the enormous stock of CLOTHING consisting of fine BROAD CLOTH SUITS BROWN and CASSIMERE GOODS, and the latest novelties in spring styles for 1867, just received at the ST. LOUIS STORE by Messrs KOHN & FISHEL, the steamer Continental will be more than ever justly celebrated. A call at this bazaar of fashion will convince the most skeptical.

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING AND REFINING WORKS,

No. 416 Montgomery Street,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company.)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, WM C RALSTON, CHAS E. McLANE, A. HAYWARD, LOUIS A CARNETT.

LOUIS A CARNETT, President and Manager

JOHN HEWSTON Jr, Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One-eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,600, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,600, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum. And one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold 4 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold 6 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 750½@949½ parts gold 8 cents per ounce.

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the usual rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co's Express.

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution:

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold 8 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 300½@600 parts gold 5 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold 7 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 750½@830 parts gold 11 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 830½@949½ parts gold 14 cents per ounce.

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage with unparted gold bars it will be seen that the bars have cost ⅓ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following rates to equal the returns which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage:

850 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents.

845 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents.

855 par to equal San Francisco A & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents.

THE PORTLAND LIBRARY.—A brief visit to the rooms of the Portland Library Association will be sufficient to convince any one that the place has passed under a new regime. Mr. L. W. Gilliland is employed as Librarian at a salary which is liberal enough to enable him to spend all his time in taking care of the rooms and property. The walls have been lately whitewashed and the rooms otherwise brushed up, so that they now present a very pleasant appearance. The library proper is kept open from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., and the reading rooms are open till 9 P. M. The library now numbers 2,095 volumes, which are placed upon the shelves, classified under appropriate heads, as History, Travels, Biography, Romance, Poetry, etc. The largest sett is that of Littell's Living Age, of which there are eighty volumes. The front room contains files of most of the Oregon and many of the leading States' papers, conveniently filed. The second room is furnished with a number of tables, chess boards and pieces, etc. In the matter of the registry of books taken out, a great improvement over the old method has been adopted. Instead of the Chinese-looking characters used by former librarians to indicate that a book was out, or that it had been returned, the librarian has prepared a book in which are columns for the name of the person taking a book, when taken, what book and number, when returnable, when returned, time over kept, damages and fines, etc. This furnishes a complete key to the possession and condition of each book, which every person can easily understand. Careful accounts are also kept with each member, in which are charged all fines, assessments, etc. This alone will probably save enough to the Society to pay the salary of the Librarian. The inauguration of these reforms may be credited in great part to Mr. J. A. Way[illegible], who was lately the librarian and the immediate [illegible] of Mr. Gilliland. By reference to the constitution and by-laws we notice that the initiation fee to membership is $5 00, and the quarterly dues are $3 00. Persons, not members, may have the privileges of a member for six months upon the payment of the regular quarterly dues and the deposit in coin of the value of the book taken out.

THE GARDNER SHACKLE.—An injunction was granted by Judge Boise at this term of court at Salem, restraining Major Berry, the Superintendent of the Penitentiary, from using the Gardner shackle. The injunction was granted at the suit of L. Besser, the assignee of the right for the State of Oregon. It seems that, though the Legislature [illegible] lated $5,000 to purchase the right to use it in the State prison, no definite action has been taken in regard to it, though the State has been using the shackle in violation, as the plaintiff alleges, of his right. It will be remembered that the shackle was removed from the prisoners a few days before the emeute occurred, about the last of August. The result was that several desperate [illegible] escaped, costing the State a considerable sum for their capture and return. In the present condition of the buildings, it is thought by many who are acquainted with such matters, it will be extremely hazardous to [illegible] with the use of the shackle. Experience has proved that the prisoners can be securely kept with this [illegible] at an annual expense, less by $3,000 or $4,000 than without it. The State could, therefore, well afford to pay $5,000 for the use of it for the sixteen years which the right has yet to run. It would certainly be unfortunate, if, in consequence of a controversy in [illegible], a score of desperate characters should be suffered to break loose upon the community.

THE PANTOMIME.—Pantomime, since the Greek and Roman period, has held a high place on the stage. In [illegible] most European cities, its popularity is un[illegible]. For many years, American audiences have given it the most enthusiastic reception. The Ravels, [illegible] Carlo, etc., have made this kind of amusement [illegible] in the United States. The Red Gnome is one of their best and is full of illusions, transformations, [illegible], traps, tricks and curious scenery. Mr. [illegible] has brought it out at the theater as well as the [illegible] of the stage will permit. Mr. Delavan, who, we [illegible], has had many years' experience in this line, has [illegible] very good scenery, and the same may be [illegible] the properties, music, dresses, etc. The piece [illegible] much more smoothly last night and will be repeated this evening. Considering his state of health, [illegible] does the White Warrior in excellent style. [illegible] as a very active Gnome, and the other characters are tolerably well filled. Miss Soledad, Miss Juan[illegible] and Graham deserve special mention.

TO THE YOUNG MEN.—The Humorist furnishes the following manual of tactics for young men, which we [illegible] is decidedly good: Fall in—love with some industrious young woman. Attention—pay to her steadily and respectfully. Right face—in popping the question, like a man. Quick march—to her parents for their consent. File right—with her to church, through the service of matrimony. Halt—and reflect duly upon the new duties which you have assumed, and then perform them. Right about face—from the haunts which you have frequented when single, and prefer your own home. Present arms—to your young wife, and go out walking with her, and never leave her to [illegible]. Break off—staying out at night, and other [illegible], if you wish to have a happy home.

COURT FOR CLACKAMAS COUNTY.—A friend at [illegible] City informs us that there are about seventy-five cases on the docket, among which are several criminal [illegible] important jury trials. Our informant of [illegible] evening in relation to the indictment for perjury, [illegible] false returns to the U. S. Revenue Assessor, [illegible] mistaken as to the foundation of the indictment. [illegible] is for perjury in a pleading sworn to [illegible] in a suit against the city, relative to the city [illegible] party. The case of the State of Oregon vs. [illegible] selling liquor without a license, resulted in a verdict of "guilty." In Wilson vs. Wills, for damages [illegible] sheep, verdict for defendant. In [illegible] vs. Oregon City Manufacturing Company, verdict for pl'ff, $550.

[illegible].—Mr. Nestor, one of the claimants [illegible] schooner, yesterday, employed Mr. Dempsey to go down in submarine armor, to explore on and in the vessel. Mr. Dempsey was below nearly an hour, [illegible] about the various parts of the schooner and when [illegible] brought the compass which had guided her [illegible] voyage and finally went to the bottom with [illegible]. It is of old-fashioned construction and looks rather [illegible] for its fifteen years' submersion. Persons who [illegible] to see it will find it at the office of Messrs. [illegible] & Parish, on Morrison street, between Front [illegible]. The diver also found a hatchet, but dropped [illegible] coming up. He reports that the vessel is not [illegible] mud as had been supposed, and that probably [illegible] will be experienced in raising her.

"PURP."—The case of W. R. Hill vs J. J. Hoff was tried yesterday before Justice Trainor of East Portland. The proofs being taken, the justice took the [illegible] advisement; so it is not yet decided who is [illegible] owner of the "purp." According to information, that "purp," after having been up in four [illegible] justice's courts, is destined yet to figure in the [illegible] Court of the State. Hill avers that the property of the "dorg" is vested in him and that he will defend it to the last extremity, and the defendant being [illegible] he has a sure thing, will not stop at the adverse [illegible] of any inferior court; so up goes the "yaller [illegible]."

AN OREGONIAN COMING TO GRIEF.—The Marysville [illegible] of a recent date, says: "Hon. Charles Westmoreland, several years ago, represented Placer county in the State Senate, and who also for a time was one of [illegible] of the Appeal, is announced by the Trinity [illegible] as a candidate for Congress. Mr. Westmoreland [illegible] able man, and now holds a prominent position as [illegible] at Eureka, Humboldt county." Charley was [illegible] at the Dalles, Oregon, some years ago. He [illegible] a young man of fine mind and genial disposition, [illegible] are sorry to see that he is about to wreck himself [illegible] the sunken rocks which lie thick along the straits [illegible] honors.

[illegible].—On boarding the Alert, yesterday, our affectionate inquiries after the "gentlemanly purser," were [illegible] answered by a brace of gentlemen, "left behind." "What's the matter?" quoth we. "The grand [illegible] the grand jury," was all we could get out of the [illegible] afflicted brace of gentlemen. It was evident [illegible] the grand jury being ignorant of some particular [illegible] facts, had [illegible] invited our friend, the purser, [illegible] enlighten them. We trust that our [illegible] will be blessed by seeing him again in the flesh, to-[illegible].

[illegible].—The attorney for defendants in the case of the [illegible] vs. Long and Bell, (the fishing tackle case) on [illegible] asked the Recorder to tax the costs against [illegible], and the Judge took the motion under advisement till yesterday morning, when he decided that [illegible] being not in his opinion malicious, the costs must be taxed against the county.

[illegible] PASSENGER LIST.—Statistics published in the [illegible] Gazette, February 13th, the Government organ, show that during 1866, there were only 18 passengers landed at Honolulu, from Oregon and Washington [illegible]. During the same time, only 8 of those left [illegible].

[illegible] FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert, [illegible], March 21st, 52 hf bbls produce, 41 boxes do, 60 [illegible] boxes, 36 hides, 1 tub, 1,526 qr sks flour, 1 pkge furs, [illegible] boxes apples, 2 pkges dried plums, 3 boxes eggs, 1 bale and 4 cases woolen goods, 319 sks feed, 2 horses, 2 [illegible], 64 sks oats.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Mrs. Susan A. Marye wants [illegible] of her husband, S. B. Marye. Address, [illegible], Warren county, Missouri. S. B. Marye was, [illegible] years ago, a practising lawyer in Portland, and was last heard of near Reynolds City, Montana.

THE FALKINBERG.—The bark J. A. Falkinberg, [illegible], master, arrived at this port yesterday from the Sandwich Island. She brings 4,000 half barrels sugar, of which about 3,000 are to McCraken, Merrill & Co. and [illegible] other parties.

[illegible].—A private telegram from San Francisco says that the Ajax, now on her way to this port, has on board about one hundred and fifty Chinamen, all bound for the Idaho and Montana mines.

[illegible] QUESTION.—The Victoria Colonist says, a pair of [illegible] gloves were left at its office and asks, "who lost them?" Why, the gentleman, of course.

THE IDAHO.—Mr. McCraken informs us that the Idaho will sail from San Francisco for this port, on Saturday the [illegible].

HONOLULU PAPERS.—Mr. McCraken is entitled to our thanks for files of the Honolulu Advertiser and the Gazette, [illegible] by the Falkinberg.

[illegible].—We are indebted to Capt. Erskine, of the Fideliter, for files of Victoria papers to the 19th, the day of [illegible].

[illegible] The Fideliter will sail for Victoria on Saturday.

THE SUNKEN SCHOONER.—Several parties claim the sunken schooner, Duc de Lorges, and talk of investing their money to raise her. They may make money out of it and they may lose; but whoever invests in clothing at Barman Bros. store, are sure to get the worth of their money.

SPRING AND SUMMER STYLES.—J. G. Munsedorffer & Bros. received by the last steamer a lot of fashionable spring and summer styles of gentlemen's caps, which are light, neat and very pretty—four varieties. Also, some of the latest and most fashionable styles of ladies' hats, of a beautiful pattern and texture. Nobody can fail to like them, and besides that, all the styles mentioned above are inexpensive. They also have a lot of China pith hats for summer. They are prepared to offer great inducements to wholesale purchasers of the beautiful and favorite styles of hats called "The Yacht Henrietta." Call and examine for yourselves.

A WORD ABOUT COLORS.—There are two colors that are very popular in our country, viz: The National colors and the Family Dye Colors. For the former we are indebted to the patriotic spirit of the American people; and for the latter to Howe & Stevens, one of the most enterprising firms in the country. The colors of each neither fade nor run. Sold by Smith & Davis.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE OF THE AGE!

Pain Killer taken internally, should be adulterated with milk or water, and sweetened with sugar if desired, or made into a syrup with molasses. For a cough, a few drops on sugar eaten will be more effective than anything else. For sore throat, gargle the throat with a mixture of Pain Killer and water, and relief is immediate and the cure positive.

It should not be forgotten that the Pain Killer is equally as good to take internally as to use externally. Each bottle is wrapped with full directions for its use. Dyspepsia can be and is cured every day by the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer. This is the most wonderful and valuable medicine ever known for this disease. Its action upon the system is entirely different from any other preparation known. The patient, while taking this medicine, may eat anything the appetite craves. Sold by all medicine dealers. mh20dawlm

Bronchitis or Chronic Sore Throat.—It is attended with irritation of the bronchial tubes, which convey the air we breathe into the lungs. The irritation produces sore throat, hoarseness, coughing, and sometimes spitting of matter streaked with blood. If it is neglected it will extend down to the lungs, and settles into confirmed consumption. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will be found a most valuable remedy for curing this disease, and prevent its running into the consumption. For sale by dealers in family medicine generally. ta26

CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, yielding upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Do you Remember!

Do you remember, darling,
The joyous, happy time,
When nature's truthful organ
Rang out its merry chime,
And you and I, my darling,
Walked out by rock and tree,
Enchanted with the music
Of nature's minstrelsy?

We climbed a rugged pathway
Far up the mountain's brow,
And gazed, with raptured vision,
On vale and plain below
Fair earth in beauty smiling
Beneath a cloudless sky,
That bent to catch the whisper
Of floating melody.

I mind me well, my darling,
You took in yours my hand,
And called my face a picture—
The fairest in the land—
And when I told you sorrow
And age would dim its light,
You gravely answered "Never;
To me 'tis ever bright "

I well remember, darling,
Your whispered words of love,
The vows that then we plighted
Were registered above,
And, as we journeyed homeward,
A vision fair to see
Rose up in brightest gilding
Before my memory.

Methought upon life's journey
We'd travel hand in hand
Toward our spirit-haven,
The far-off, better land
Our love shall be a sunbeam,
To chase all gloom away,
Our life a peaceful river,
A cloudless, summer day.

A Historical Mystery.

In the midst of the heaths of Lunenburg rise the gray walls of a hunting tower In the utmost solitude this castle is situated, and a stillness profound and gloomy reigns in the castle and for miles around it. Visits are neither received nor are they paid by its inhabitants. By day time nothing interrupts the painful, deathlike repose—nothing but the dull tread and low summons of the guard relieving the other in his monotonous [illegible]

[illegible] at night, when the moon arises and casts [illegible] pale shadows, and the faint glimmer of the [illegible] twilight wraps heaven and earth in a [illegible] mountain mist, then the heavy bolts of the [illegible] doors are drawn rattling back, and an open [illegible], with four black horses, rolls forth out [illegible] the lonely, deserted heath. What a spectral [illegible]! In the carriage sits a pale, beautiful [illegible], with long dark tresses, and diamonds sparkling in her hair She is all alone in the carriage. [illegible] in her own delicate little hand which held [illegible] twine—away away across the heath! [illegible] breeze lifts the lady's white veil, and [illegible] features noble still, but worn by the ravages of deep sorrow. The horses feel the cutting [illegible] of the whip, and they dash off at a furious [illegible]. As swift as an arrow the carriage darts off over the smooth plain, and the ground shakes beneath the tread of the powerful horses. Before, [illegible] the side and behind the carriage gallop armed [illegible], with bright swords drawn, and cocked [illegible] loose in the saddle holsters.

[illegible] prisoner enjoys her hour of freedom, the [illegible] freedom and the only pleasure which is accorded her During the day, she who is, as it [illegible] buried alive dare not quit the chambers allotted to her In the apartments of the castle she [illegible] pine until the day of her death; thus absolute power and cruel fate had decreed.

[illegible] is a sad story the history of this prisoner, [illegible] with her name is associated the dark secret [illegible] which never will be entirely cleared up [illegible] is only known

[illegible] court of a German prince th- e lived a [illegible] "young and [illegible]tiful as the early [illegible] She was the only daughter of her father. [illegible] and youth are fatal gifts. At the court [illegible] prince had been educated a page of [illegible] and ancient family, endowed with [illegible] to which once were bestowed upon the [illegible] of the gods." The princess and the [illegible]. The boy became a valiant [illegible], and the princess a bride, but not the bride [illegible] youthful friend Princes' daughters are [illegible] the happy privilege of other women [illegible] their hands of their free will, and according to their own inclinations Sophie Dorothea of Calle, was married to the Elector of Hanover and Count Philip von Konigsmarck retired with his sorrows to one of his castles in Sweden, [illegible] were a means of curing one whose [illegible] in a state of distraction and misery!

[illegible] the C[illegible] could not endure to remain long [illegible] gnawing longing drove him back to [illegible]. Few were the hours which blossomed [illegible] here, where, in the immediate neighbor[illegible] of the princess, in the secret peaceful intercourse with his beloved, he ventured to enjoy a [illegible] pure and unalloyed. Suspicions and [illegible] were busy, and his fate was decided ere [illegible] the slightest idea of what was awaiting [illegible]

[illegible] the evening of the 1st of July, 1695, Konigsmarck was seen, after that date he [illegible], and never, to the present day, has a [illegible] trace of him been found.

[illegible] Countess Platen, the mistress of the reigning [illegible], worked his ruin, from a similar feeling of [illegible] which in [illegible] Potiphar's wife toward [illegible] servant," who left his mantle in her [illegible] A letter was written in the name of the [illegible] inviting the count to a rendezvous on [illegible] night. One of the princess's maids of [illegible], Agnes von Knasbeck, threatened with death [illegible] refused to comply, was induced by the [illegible] to write, in the presence of the Elector, the following treacherous words upon a piece of [illegible]

"Count, my mistress wishes to see you. She [illegible] write to you herself because she has burned [illegible]; she has therefore desired me to inform [illegible] that you may go to her this evening by the [illegible] as usual. She [illegible] to be uneasy [illegible] your silence. For Heaven's sake soon re[illegible] from her doubts the most amiable princess [illegible] the world!"

The Count would have been no lover if he had [illegible] in the snare laid for him. In a hall of [illegible] castle five appointed assassins attacked the un[illegible] knight Celebrated as a perfect master [illegible] the use of every weapon, Konigsmarck drew his [illegible] and leveled to the ground three of the assassins. He hoped soon to dispose of the others, [illegible] one of them suddenly threw a mantle over his head, and their victim fell beneath the dag[illegible] aimed by superior force At the moment [illegible] the wretches were about to carry away the [illegible] count, the hall door was opened, and the [illegible] entered with a taper in her hand. The [illegible] of the struggle in the neighborhood of her [illegible] had aroused her, and the barking of a [illegible] dog which Konigsmarck had once given her, had attracted her attention. The sight of [illegible] which presented itself to her made her very [illegible]. With a wailing cry she sank to the [illegible]

Early in the morning the princess had an interview with the Elector and the hereditary prince. With that courage which misfortune gives to great souls, Sophie Dorothea rejected every proposition of reconciliation.

"I will not demean myself by trying to convince you that I am innocent. Guilty I am, of [illegible], but only in cowardly obeying my father, and breaking my faith to Count Konigsmarck. I loved Konigsmarck before the duty to obey you, [illegible] was laid upon me I perceive with horror that I have been the cause of his death. It devolves upon me, therefore, to avenge him. Be [illegible] prepared for anything that vengeance may suggest."

On the 28th of December, 1694, her marriage with the Elector was dissolved. As soon as that was arranged, she was conveyed, as a state prisoner, to the castle of Ahlden. With her liberty, she lost both her name and rank, and henceforth she was called the Duchess of Ahlden.

There have been sundry rumors of the fate of Count Konigsmarck, since the dark transaction of that July night, though they have been very conflicting Some say that he was killed by the satellites of the Elector, who were lying in wait for him, or, at any rate, that he was so severely wounded that he soon after expired, when his body was flung into a secret chamber, which was walled up and cemented. Others assert that the wounded man was drowned in an underground vault, and the corpse afterward buried in an oven. Many again declare that he was strangled or beheaded But among his cotemporaries a very different version was spread, which, it is true, gives a much more romantic coloring, but certainly brings with it authentic proofs, vouched for by Count Moritz of Saxony, a son of the beautiful Aurora von Konigsmarck. According to his account, Konigsmarck was severely wounded when suddenly attacked, but not mortally. The assassins dragged the fainting man to a cell under ground, named the laboratory, there to await further instructions from the Elector The Elector commanded that the most profound silence should be observed respecting the whole affair, meanwhile, the count was to be taken care of Notwithstanding both these orders were punctually carried out, still vague rumors became noised about that Konigsmarck was kept a prisoner in the castle, and his brother in law, Count von Lowenhaupt, who hastened from Dresden to Hanover on receiving intelligence of the disappearance of his relative, succeeded, after much trouble, in coming at the truth, through the assistance of a clever huntsman, who, with that object in view, was forced to form an intimacy with the wife of the castellan of the castle The huntsman seized a favorable moment to steal from the woman the principal keys of the castle, and in possession of them, Lowenhaupt determined, on the night of the 15th of February, 1695, to carry off the prisoner secretly from the laboratory, of the exact situation of which he had informed himself He actually did gain the chamber, but only to convince himself that he had come a few hours too late He found written in charcoal upon one of the walls, in the handwriting of his brother in-law

"Philippe de Konigsmarck a rempli sa destinee dans ce lieu 14 Febr; de l'anno 1695 "

The Princess Sophie Dorothea passed fully thirty years of her sad and sorrowful existence in the hunting tower of Ahlen Miss von Knesebeck, who was privy to the injustice which had been committed, was kept in close confinement at the castle Schwarzenfels. She managed to escape, however, after several years, by the aid of a person employed to repair the roof

Who could have seen into the future! The Duchess of Ahlden, the poor prisoner, deserted by mankind and stripped of all joy, had a grand son whose fame filled the world When her marriage was dissolved, she was obliged to leave her daughter, also called Sophie Dorothea, at the court of Hanover. Never in life was the mother permitted to see her daughter again, but this daughter became the Queen of Prussia, and the mother of Frederick the Great!

Joseph Addison.

Amidst lights illuminating that glorious page in the history of letters, adorned by the genius of Pope, Steele, Congreve, Prior, Gay, Young, and bards less known to fame, the mild, but purely brilliant star of Addison rose. The son of a clergyman, we must conclude that early training imbued his mind with a high morality, always pervading his perfect compositions. At Oxford, he was distinguished, and, for ten long years, devoted himself to the study of the Latin poets They were, we are told, at his fingers' ends when, at the completion of his collegiate course, he traveled into Italy.

The most cultivated society of Europe was enjoyed by him during this tour; and his refined, appreciative mind, richly stored with classic lore, received its final polish in the course of continental travel. Objects scarce glanced at by a common explorer, delighted his artist eye, and, with delicate perception, he lingered in contemplation over the great works of nature and of genius which met him there. Circumscribed fortune, and cold poverty he bore, we are told, with dignified cheerfulness.

This high thoughted man was the most perfect gentleman of his age. In him were combined moral excellence, profound scholarship, educated taste, and a mind of original power, in which all the faculties were so nicely balanced that it was impossible he should either run into extravagance, descend into vulgarity, or harden into coldness. Like a diamond of purest water, he glitters amidst gems, and outshines them all, even now, with a steady, clear, unquenchable light. Yet, this surpassing "wit, scholar, and gentleman," at 33 years of age, found himself without employment, and destitute of means. His books did not succeed. He lived in the Haymarket. The stairs which led to his dingy lodgings were ricketty, when he chanced to write a poem in honor of the battle of Blenheim, and the Duke of Marlborough's great victory. He was immediately made Commissioner of Appeals, and the succeeding year obtained the place of Under Secretary of State.

Then was produced his Cato; the world was now ready to offer its incense of adulation. Our author met plaudits on every side. The great Mr. Addison was not an author to be neglected! Politically, he was advancing, and went Secretary to Ireland. We soon see him Secretary of State for the whole realm, and the accepted lover of a noble lady. The smile of fortune at last seemed to beam full on his grand, serene visage, but his prosperity was more apparent than real. Lady Warwick does not, as records inform us, meet the full aspirations of good Joseph Addison. The last years of his luminous career were marked by despondency; for there was a shadow on his hearth, and, surrounded by splendor, gloom invested him

In the Tattler and Spectator we know him as a friend, kindly reproving folly. He seemed to hold, with sympathising heart, the reflective glass portraying vice, and his gentle rebukes are bestowed with the inimitable grace and effect belonging of right to Sir Roger de Coverly. Of his poetry it is impossible to say too much. The far reaching altitude of Milton was not beyond his grasp. The superb finish of Pope was attained by him. The depth and sincerity of his devotion hallowed every line; and, calmly sublime, like stars in the eternal heavens, or the steady motion of the earth's great luminary, his verses flow on, with nothing to stay their course or jar their harmony.

Joseph Addison was a good man as well as a great poet and master of style. Like Phidian statues, his ornate and superbly simple works remain faultless models of what the grand English tongue may produce in the hands of ability, taste and judgment. These works can never be too carefully studied, and will always remain, despite presumptuous innovation, silently rebuking the hurried and ill-directed steps of modern progress. A Christian philosopher; a man whose glittering sallies of humor convinced without irritating; a poet so exalted that it is high excellence in any votary of the muses should his standard, by such an one, be approached, he united all the accomplishments of the finished and urbane autocrat of manners, with the more elevated distinction of unimpeachable integrity and sovereign supremacy in the world of letters

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL HAND.—Two charming women were discussing one day what it is that constitutes beauty in the hand. They differed in opinion as to the shape of the beautiful member whose merits they were disputing. A gentleman friend presented himself, and, by common consent, the question was referred to him. It was a delicate matter. He thought of Paris and the three goddesses. Glancing from one to the other of the beautiful white hands presented him, which, by the way, he had the cunning to hold for some time in his own for the purpose of examination, he replied at last: "I give it up; the question is too hard for me; but ask the poor, and they will tell you that the most beautiful hand in the world is the hand that gives"

"I'LL LEAVE IT TO THE CROWD."—A few days since, a well known attorney of this city, says the San Francisco Call, was arguing a case before one of the District Judges, when he advanced a proposition of law, which was immediately ruled irrelevant. After his Honor had expressed his opinion, the attorney exclaimed "Notwithstanding your Honor is opposed to me, I believe I am right, and I'll leave it to the crowd if I am not" The Court bellied over, and the attorney smoothed matters by apologizing.

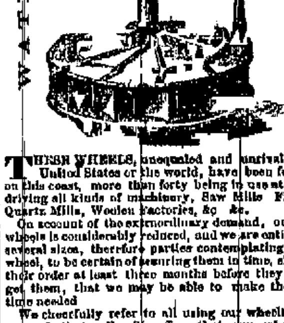
LEFFEL'S
AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE



THESE WHEELS, unequaled and unrivaled in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, more than forty being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills Flour-Mills Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c &c.

On account of the extraordinary demand, our stock of wheels is considerably reduced, and we are entirely out of several sizes, therefore parties contemplating using our wheel, to be certain of securing them in time, should give their order at least three months before they expect to get them, that we may be able to make them by the time needed

We cheerfully refer to all using our wheels, and are assured that all will affirm that our wheels accomplish all and even more than we'd aim for them. Address

Fountain of Life!
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARrive when a new direction is imparted to its course these epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science. The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy, now offered to the public, in connection with the theory on which it is based, is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

SCROFULA AND KING'S EVIL!

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts; it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance.

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health. It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting

Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made —provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE:

I would refer you to L L Peck, of Portland, Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
